Donning plus fours, tweed and caps for Muirfield Day

In honor of the traditional member's day at The Honorary Company of Edinburgh Golfers (Muirfield), St Francis Links held its first Muirfield Day.

Starting early on a Saturday the Secretary of the Honorary Society of Links Members, Thinus Keller (TK), paired the entrants into foursomes with foursomes as the format for morning play.

Following the golf the golfers dressed for lunch (golf and tea) and met in Jack's Bar for the customary pint, dram or drop of gin. Once together, everyone moved through to the Lighthouse Restaurant for a three-course Scottish tribute that featured a salmon-based starter, followed by fillet of venison and a wonderful dessert. A little wine was consumed to accompany the starters and mains - the Muirfield way. Following the lunch, players dressed for golf again and resumed play with new pairings and foursomes again. Everyone was a winner stories were shared above the 18th green following play! Seen here, above are the Links' Scottish foursome in traditional attire. Brenden Pieters, Thinus Keller, Jeff Clause and Christo.

Lawyer Spangenberg beat Links' members at golf

St Francis Links team members nearly made it a hat trick today by walking off with second and third placings in the Ink's members 2018 Championships. The Links pair were beaten by the skilful Humansberg lawyer, Hein Spangenberg, who was referred to as not only a good lawyer but a great golfer as well, and his partner, Eddie Nel, with 98 points. Links Pro Thinus Keller and Ernest Bordenman came second with 97, and Charl Blaauw, the Links' green keeper, and his partner, Fouche Swart, achieved 95 points. The weather played ball and the course was, according to all the praises from the members, in a superb state. Members were full of praise for the Links staff hospitality and the top condition of the greens.
